Ninth Annual
ROCKY MOUNTAIN MINERAL LAW
INSTITUTE

July 18, 19 and 20, 1963

at

University of Colorado
Boulder, Colorado

You are cordially invited to attend. The three-day program includes discussions of problems in acquiring oil and gas leases, FPC regulation of independent natural gas producers, proposed amendments to the Internal Revenue Code affecting the oil and gas industry, expert testimony in mining litigation, pending proposals to revise mining laws, administration of the mineral patent laws, accounting problems of the petroleum and mining industries, judicial review of administrative action, the sale and purchase of producing properties, antitrust considerations in petroleum acquisitions and mergers, financing oil, gas and mineral exploration, the bankruptcy act and the independent producer, and labor law aspects in oil field activities.

The Nebraska State Bar Association and the University of Nebraska College of Law are among the sponsors of this regional institute meeting.

Information about the program and pre-registration may be obtained by writing to:

THAT GROWING CLIENT

It is the now-small corporation client which can least afford the mishandling of a service of process in an outside state—or the loss of its license for failure to comply with a state report or tax requirement. It should come as no surprise then that lawyers by the thousands designate CT statutory agents for "small" clients qualified in only one or two states—as well as those which carry on multi-state activity.

You're welcome to a free copy of Protection Only Counsel Can Give. After reading it you will understand why so many lawyers feel safer when their clients are CT-protected. Write for a copy today.
